Note From the Basswood Bugle.

Sombody took the rope off the bell in the fire engine house to use for a clothesline, and now, when there is a fire, the constable has to climb up into the tower and ring the bell with a hammer. Sombody took the hammer the other day and, when Hank Purdy's cornerb ketched fire, the constable had to hurry down to Hilliker's store for to borrow a hammer. Hilliker had lent his hammer to Deacon Renfrew, who lives four miles out in the country, and by the time the constable had got there and hunted around in the barn for the hammer and got back to the engine house, the angry elements had done their worst and Hank's cornerb was a mass of smoldering ruins.—Judge's Library.

HEALTH AND INCOME Both Kept Up on Scientific Food.

Good sturdy health helps one a lot to make money.

With the loss of health one's income is liable to shrink, if not entirely dwindle away.

When a young lady has to make her own living, good health is her best asset.

"I am alone in the world," writes a Chicago girl, "dependent on my own efforts for my living. I am a clerk, and about two years ago through close application to work and a boarding-house diet, I became a nervous invalid, and got so bad off it was almost impossible for me to stay in the office a half day at a time.

"A friend suggested to me the idea of trying Grape-Nuts food which I did, making it a large part of at least two meals a day.

"Today, I am free from brain-tire, dyspepsia, and all the ills of an over-worked and improperly nourished brain and body. To Grape-Nuts I owe the recovery of my health, and the ability to retain my position and income.

CATTLEMAN NOW COMPLAINING

Owners of Stock in Feed Lots Say Decline Has Been Expensive to Them.

Cottonwood Falls, Kansas—Because of the recent decline and unsettled conditions in the live stock market farmers and stockmen in this section have practically suspended shipments and are holding for better prices.

Many men who pasture large numbers of cattle each summer and make a practice of full-feeding several weeks before shipping are finding that their cattle will hardly bring as much now as at the time they were taken out of pastures a month or six weeks ago. This means that they have lost their labor and all the feed that cattle have eaten during the period of declining prices.

MISSOURI STATE NEWS

Missouri University Leads.

Dr. A. Ross Hill, president of the Missouri State university informed the National Association of State Universities that the Missouri institution is the only state university which requires study in the liberal arts prior to entering upon the study of a profession. "By next year," he said, "this requirement will be general in our university. It is very nearly so. Some other state universities require such preparation before students are permitted to enter upon the study of medicine. But only Missouri requires thorough general preparation before students may take up any of the professions." Dr. Hill's statement was received with manifestation of keen interest and approval. He predicted that the custom will be general within the next years, so that men who graduate in the professions will have a liberal education in all essential branches. Dr. Hill was appointed a member of a special committee to consider the reorganization of American education, with a view to having students come to the universities prepared with at least two years of academic study.

Dry Weather Helps Crops.

A statement on dry weather and crop conditions in Missouri, prepared by T. C. Wilson, secretary of the state board of agriculture, and is as follows: "The dry weather throughout Missouri, which began about two months ago, has done far more good than harm to the Missouri farmer's crops. It has saved the late corn and greatly improved the condition of the early corn. Grass and fall pastures have suffered in some districts, but the damage is not serious. Late sown wheat has not germinated as it would have done with rains, but this is not necessarily a serious damage, as I have known very heavy crops of wheat harvested from fields where the fall sown seed did not even sprout until Christmas."

"I wish to say that I have used Sloan's Liniment on a lame leg that has given me much trouble for six months. It was so bad that I couldn't walk sometimes for a week. I tried doctors' medicine and had a rubber bandage for my leg, and bought everything that I heard of, but they all did me no good, until at last I was persuaded to try Sloan's Liniment. The first application helped it, and in two weeks my leg was well."—A. L. HUNTER, of Hunter, Ala.
